

Hello,

I've spent the last five years working for mobile advertising companies, as a Rich Media Developer. While at Tapjoy, I worked closely with campaign managers, project managers, and designers to deliver international and domestic interactive ad campaigns. I spent the majority of my time collaborating with our team to create original and compelling ads to present to prospective clients. I also spent a considerable amount of time working with our third party engineering team, based in Boston; there is where we developed products for our in-house team.

Prior to working at Tapjoy, I worked at a start-up for a couple of years, which allowed me to build a foundation in the type of work I am passionate about doing. I enjoy fast paced, long-term projects, that engage and benefit consumers. Thank you in advance for your consideration.

Best,
Arturo Luna
